Defamatory matter defined

314.— (1) A person is defamed if matter is imputed to him or her which amounts to a crime, or which imputes to him or her misconduct in any public office, or which is likely to injure him or her in his or her occupation, calling, or office, or to expose him or her to general hatred, contempt or ridicule.

(2) It is not necessary for libel that a defamatory meaning should be directly or completely expressed, it is sufficient if such meaning and its application to the person alleged to be defamed can be inferred either from the alleged libel itself or from any extrinsic circumstances, or partly by the one and partly by the other means.

If it is proved that the defamatory matter was published under such circumstances that the publication would have been justified if made in good faith, the publication shall be presumed to have been made in good faith unless the contrary is proved, either from the libel itself, or from the evidence given on behalf of the accused person or on the part of the prosecution.

326.— (1) Where a person accused of publishing defamatory matter pleads that the defamatory matter published by him or her was true, and that it was for the public benefit that the matter should be published in the manner in which and at the time when it was published, such plea may justify the defamatory matter in the sense specified, if any, in the count, or in the sense which the defamatory matter bears without any such specific justification, or separate pleas justifying the defamatory matter in each sense may be pleaded separately, as if two libels had been charged in separate counts.

733.— (1) The appellant may after he or she has served notice of appeal, and within fifteen days after the decision of the Court, enter into a recognizance, with at least one sufficient surety, to the satisfaction of the Magistrate, for the due prosecution of the appeal and for abiding by the result of the appeal, including the payment of all costs of the appeal.

(2) The appellant may, if the nature of the case admits of his or her so doing, instead of entering into a recognizance, lodge with the clerk of the Court the amount awarded by the decision as well as the amount of the costs, together with the sum of five hundred dollars to abide the costs of the appeal or the amount of costs of the appeal only, as the case may be, and in addition shall pay to the clerk of the Court all fees in respect of the appeal, if any.

(3) If the appellant is in custody, he or she may be released from custody on the order of the Magistrate if he or she complies with the requirements of this section.

(4) A person aggrieved by the decision of the Magistrate pursuant to subsection (3) may appeal to a Judge of the High Court in Chambers who may confirm, reverse or vary the decision of the Magistrate.

(5) The Magistrate may, when he or she deems it expedient so to do, dispense with the requirement of such recognizance, deposit, or fees, under subsection (1) or (2) of this section.

(6) The person prosecuting or defending or appearing as a public officer, or in the public interest, shall not be bound or required to enter into any recognizance or make the deposit, or pay any fees under subsection (1) or (2) of this section.

(3) The Magistrate shall also cause to be transmitted with the copy of the proceedings his or her written judgment, if any, or if there is none, he or she shall transmit a memorandum of the reasons for the decision.

SUB-PART B

Summary Appeal Hearings

Sittings of Court of Appeal

735. The Court of Appeal (referred to in this Sub-Part and in Sections 736 to 770 as “the Court”) shall, except when the Court is on vacation, sit for the purpose of hearing appeals from the District Courts at such time as may, from time to time be fixed by the Chief Justice, or is otherwise fixed by law.

Notice of appeal sitting to parties

736. The clerk of the Court, after consultation with the Registrar of the Court, shall notify the parties to attend the sitting of the Court at which the case shall come on for hearing.

No appeal to be heard within 21 days of order but by consent

737. Except with the consent of all the parties no appeal shall be heard until after the expiration of twenty-one days of the order against which the appeal is made.

Appearance in person or by counsel

738. At the hearing of an appeal, any party may be heard in person, or by counsel.

Striking out appeal on non-appearance of appellant

739.— (1) If the appellant fails to appear, on the day of hearing or at any adjournment of the case, the appeal shall be struck out and the decision shall be affirmed, unless the Court thinks fit, for sufficient cause, to order otherwise.

(2) If the appellant fails to appear but the respondent appears, the judgment shall include costs of the appeal against the appellant, unless the Court expressly orders otherwise.

(3) Where the respondent fails to appear, costs of the appeal shall be in the discretion of the Court.

Adjournment and terms thereof

740. The Court may adjourn the hearing of the appeal from time to time upon such terms as to costs and postponement as the Court may think just.

General provisions as to hearing

741.— (1) If the appellant appears on the day of hearing and at every adjournment of the case, the Court shall, whether the respondent appears or not, proceed to the hearing or further hearing and determination of the case, and shall give judgment on the merits, without regard to any imperfection or defect of form in any proceedings in the District Court, and notwithstanding that the order made by the District Court was in excess of that which might lawfully have been made by the District Court.

(2) If it appears, or is proved to the satisfaction of the Court, that the appellant has not complied with the requirements of this Sub-Part, with respect to the giving or service of notice of appeal or grounds of appeal or with the requirements of section 733, the Court shall dismiss the appeal and affirm the decision, with or without costs against the appellant, as it may think fit unless, on good and sufficient cause being shown, the Court considers that it would be most unjust in the circumstances to do so, in which case it may hear the appeal on such terms and conditions as it may consider proper or make any other order as it thinks fit.

Appellant bound by grounds in notice

742.— (1) At the hearing of an appeal it shall not be competent for the appellant to go into, or to give evidence of, any other ground for appeal than those set forth in his or her notice of grounds for appeal, or of which he or she has given notice as provided in section 730.

(2) The appellant may, if he or she has given no notice of grounds for appeal, rely upon the statutory grounds stated in section 732.

Objections to grounds for appeal

743.— (1) At the hearing of the appeal, no objection to any defect in the form of the notice setting forth the grounds for appeal shall be allowed, and no objection to the admission of any evidence lawfully offered in support of any of the grounds for appeal shall prevail, unless the Court is of opinion that such ground for appeal is so imperfectly or incorrectly set forth as to be insufficient to enable the respondent to reply properly to such ground for appeal.

(2) Where the Court is of the opinion that an objection to any grounds for appeal or to the admission of evidence in support of any ground for appeal ought to prevail, the Court may, if it thinks fit, cause such ground for appeal to be amended forthwith upon such terms and conditions, if any, as the Court may think just.

Defects, variances, etc., when immaterial

744.— (1) If, any objection is made on account of any defect or variance in a complaint or other proceeding, or on account of any omission or mistake or variance in the drawing up of a conviction or order, minute or memorandum or other proceeding, and it is shown to the satisfaction of the Court, that sufficient evidence given before the District Court, making such order to have authorised the making or drawing of or of any other proceeding free from such mistake or variance, the Court shall amend such complaint or such conviction, or order, minute or memorandum, or other proceeding, and proceed as if no such defect, omission or mistake or variance had existed.

(2) Subject to the provisions of subsection (2) of section 741, nothing in this section shall affect the provisions of section 733.

Amendment of recognizance

745. The Court may, if it thinks it necessary or expedient in the interests of justice, amend any recognizance, provided it has been entered into in due time.

Production of documents, exhibits, or other things

746. The Court may order the production of any document, exhibit, or other thing connected with the proceedings, the production of which appears to it necessary for the determination of the appeal.

Appeal to be determined on record

747. Subject to the provisions of sections 749, 750 and 751, an appeal shall generally, and especially in the case of a dismissal, be heard and determined only on the record, transmitted to the Court.

Notice of application to adduce evidence at hearing

748. Any party who intends to apply at the hearing of the appeal for evidence or further evidence to be adduced at the hearing shall give written notice of the application and the reasons in support of the application to the other parties to the appeal, and shall also file the application with the Registrar before the case is to be heard.

Evidence by affidavit

749. Where further evidence is ordered, the Court may, in appropriate circumstances, also order that such evidence be given by affidavit.

Examination of witness in appeal

750.— (1) A witness may be examined at the hearing of an appeal, even though he or she was not examined at the original hearing if the Court is satisfied as to any of the following matters —

- (a) that he or she was served with a summons at the original hearing, and was prevented from appearing due to some unavoidable cause;
- (b) that he or she was prevented from appearing in person by reason of his or her absence from the State;
- (c) that he or she was actually offered for examination, but the District Court improperly refused to examine him or her.

(2) Except as otherwise provided in subsection (1), only those witnesses examined at the original hearing shall be examined at the hearing of an appeal, unless the Court is satisfied that without the further evidence of other witnesses, a miscarriage of justice is likely to result.

Proceedings as to evidence on appeal

751.— (1) Where in any proceedings the Court considers it necessary that fresh evidence or further evidence should be adduced, it may either —

- (a) re-examine any witness, who was a competent witness at the trial, and who gave evidence at the original hearing;
- (b) order any witness, who would have been a competent witness at the trial to attend and be examined before the Court, whether or not he or she was called as a witness at the original hearing;
- (c) receive the evidence, if tendered, of any witness including the appellant or respondent whether or not he or she was called or examined at the original hearing, but no person shall be called as a witness without his or her consent where such consent is required by law;
- (d) order the evidence to be adduced before the Court on a day to be fixed;
- (e) refer the case back to the Magistrate to take the evidence, and may in that case:
 - (i) direct the Magistrate to adjudicate afresh after taking the evidence and subject to such directions in law, if any, as the Court may think fit to give, or
 - (ii) direct the Magistrate after taking the evidence to report specific findings of fact for the information of the Court, and on any such reference the case shall, so far as may be practicable and necessary, be dealt with as if it were being heard in the first instance;

- (f) remit to any fit person to inquire and report in regard to the facts and circumstances of any case under appeal, and on considering such report may pronounce judgment.

(2) Any witness required under subsection (1) —

- (a) shall be summoned or produced in the same manner;
- (b) may be remunerated at the same rate; and
- (c) shall suffer the same penalties and liabilities for non-attendance, as are provided with respect to witnesses summoned to attend at the hearing or trial of any case before the Court in the exercise of its general civil jurisdiction.

(3) Where a case is referred back to the District Court under subsection (1) (e), the Court may direct the District Court to re-summon the respective parties to the appeal and to re-hear and determine the case referred to it without any further charges or costs and, unless the Court otherwise directs, either party is entitled, subject to the provisions of this Code, to appeal against the decision or order of the District Court on such re-hearing.

Inadmissible grounds of appeal

752. No appeal shall be allowed on any of the following grounds —

- (a) that the District Court had no jurisdiction in the case unless an objection to the jurisdiction of the District Court had been formally taken at any time during the proceedings of the case and before the decision of the Court has been given but if such objection has been so taken, and is well founded, the Court may refer the case back to the Magistrate with such directions as it considers proper, or may hear and determine the case upon the merits, and may confirm, reverse or vary the decision of the Magistrate or may make such other order in the matter as the Court thinks just, and may by such order exercise any power which the Magistrate against whose decision the appeal is made might have exercised;
- (b) that inadmissible evidence has been admitted by the District Court, if there is sufficient admissible evidence to sustain the decision;
- (c) that admissible evidence has been rejected; but if the Court considers the objection well founded, it shall proceed in accordance with the provisions of section 751;
- (d) that the case should not have been dealt with as a summary offence;
- (e) that the sentence, penalty or punishment is inadequate;
- (f) that any question of value, compensation or costs has been wrongly determined by the Magistrate, unless in the opinion of the Court his or her determination is not altogether supported by the evidence nor justified in the circumstances.

Appeals to be decided on merits

753.— (1) No conviction or order made in pursuance of any proceedings for a summary conviction shall be quashed for any defect or want of form;

(2) Every appeal shall be decided on its merits, and in all cases where it appears that the merits of the case have been tried and there is evidence to support the decision by the Magistrate the Court shall confirm the decision and no conviction, order, warrant, process or proceeding in connection with the decision, shall be quashed, notwithstanding any objection concerning the improper admission or rejection of any evidence.

(3) The Court may, in any case where there was improper admission or rejection of evidence, amend the conviction, order, warrant, process or proceeding if necessary, or give such judgment or make such order as it considers the Magistrate should have given or made in the circumstances.

Powers of Court on appeal

754.— (1) In giving judgment the Court may —

- (a) confirm, vary or reverse the decision, either in whole or in part;
- (b) refer or remit the case under the provisions of sections 751 and 752 or otherwise;
- (c) make such other order for disposing of the case as justice may require;

(2) The Court may, so far as may be necessary for doing complete justice between the parties, review any order made by the Magistrate with respect to the case.

Judgment on appeal final

755. Every judgment of the Court on appeal shall be final and conclusive.

Power of Court as to costs

756. Subject to the provisions of this Sub-Part, the Court may make such order as to the costs of any case, both in the District Court and in Court, as it may think just, and may order such costs to be paid forthwith, and imprisonment on default in addition to any term of imprisonment to which the person ordered to pay such costs may be otherwise liable.

Costs where appeal abandoned or withdrawn

757. Where an appeal is abandoned or withdrawn, the Court may, on proof of notice of appeal having been given to the person entitled to receive such notice, order that the person be paid such costs as the Court may think fit, notwithstanding that the appeal has not been prosecuted.

Execution for appeal costs

758.— (1) If payment of costs is not made, the person entitled to it may apply to the District Court for an order of execution as if the judgment or order as to costs was a judgment given in the District Court in the exercise of its civil jurisdiction.

(2) The Magistrate may also, on application by or on behalf of the person entitled to such costs, commit the person by whom it is payable to prison for any term not exceeding two months, in addition to any term of imprisonment to which he or she may be otherwise liable under the judgment in the case, unless the amount of such costs and all unpaid costs and charges of the execution if any, or otherwise, and the costs of the commitment, if the Magistrate thinks fit so to order, are sooner paid.

Default of appearance by appellant

759.— (1) Where the appellant fails to appear before the Court and to prosecute his or her appeal, the Registrar of the Court shall, not later than twenty-four hours, transmit to the clerk of the Court from which the case on appeal was brought, a certificate to that effect, and the Magistrate shall treat the recognizance as forfeited and deal with it as such, or make such order as may be just, with respect to the amount lodged by the appellant.

(2) Where the appellant has been released from custody but remains or becomes liable to be kept in custody, the Magistrate shall forthwith issue a warrant for his or her arrest and detention.

Transmission of appeal judgment to District Court

760. The Registrar of the Court shall, within twenty-four hours after the Court has delivered its judgment, or so soon thereafter as may be practicable, transmit a certificate of the judgment to the clerk of the District Court against whose decision the appeal is made and the clerk shall then cause the judgment to be put into execution forthwith, in the same manner as the orders of the District Court are enforceable.

Power of Magistrate to enforce appeal judgment

761.— (1) Subject to the provisions of this section, after the Court has delivered its judgment, the Magistrate of the Court against whose decision the appeal is made shall have the same jurisdiction and power to enforce any decision which has been confirmed or varied by the Court, or any judgment which has been pronounced by the Court, in the same manner in all respects, as if such decision or judgment had been pronounced by the Magistrate.

(2) Where an order for the imprisonment of any person, or for the payment of money and in default of payment for the imprisonment of the person, is confirmed or varied, or made originally on appeal, the pronouncement of the sentence shall be a sufficient warrant without more for the arrest, detention and commitment to prison of the person.

(3) The imprisonment of the person, if it has not already commenced, shall commence from the day on which he or she is in actual custody in the prison where he or she may have been ordered to be imprisoned.

(4) Where the person has been discharged from imprisonment on giving the requisite security under section 733, he or she shall be imprisoned for such further period as, together with the time during which he or she may already have spent in prison, may be equal to the period for which he or she was ordered to be imprisoned.

Publication of judgment reasons

762. Where the Court has delivered a written judgment the Registrar of the Court shall forward to the Government Printer, a copy of the judgment to be published in the Gazette, for the guidance of the District
C o u r t s .

(2) The statement of facts in the case stated shall, for the purpose of the determination of the case, be conclusive.

Recognizance by applicant

764. If a case is stated on the application of a party, the party, (hereinafter called the “appellant”), shall, at the time of making his or her application enter into recognizance with one or more sureties acknowledged before the Magistrate or the clerk of the Court on condition to appear and prosecute his or her appeal and to abide by the judgment of the Court, as well as pay such costs as may be awarded by the Court.

Release of appellant

765. If the appellant is in custody, he or she may be released upon a recognizance being entered into.

Transmission of case and notice of hearing

766. A case stated shall be transmitted to the Registrar of the Court in a same manner and with the same notice to the parties as in a case on appeal under this Sub-Part.

Saving as to right of appeal

767. Nothing in this section shall be construed to prevent either party in such a case from appealing against any determination of fact or question of law that is not raised in the case stated by the Magistrate, and such an appeal shall be independent of the case stated.

Power of Director of Public Prosecutions to require case to be stated

768. The Director of Public Prosecutions may, by notice in writing under his or her hand, require a Magistrate to state a case on any point of law, and on receipt of such notice, the Magistrate shall state such case accordingly.

Remission of case stated to Magistrate

769. The Court may remit any case stated to the Magistrate for further information from the Magistrate.

Hearing and Procedure

770. The Court shall hear and determine questions of law arising on the case stated, and the provisions of this Code with respect to the hearing and judgment of appeals and of all matters incidental thereto shall, so far as appropriate, apply to a case stated.

SUB-PART CSUMMARY TRIAL OF INDICTABLE OFFENCESJurisdictionDefinition of “Court”

771. In this Sub-Part unless the context otherwise requires “Court” means a District Court in the exercise of its jurisdiction in respect of summary offences.

Summary trials generally. Power to adjourn and remand 772.— (1) Where a person is charged before the Court with an indictable offence with respect to which the Court has or may have under the circumstances stated in sections 774 and 776 power to deal with summarily, the Court, without prejudice to any other power which it may possess, may, for the purpose of ascertaining whether it is expedient to deal with the case summarily either before or during the hearing of the case, adjourn the case and remand the person charged.

(2) A person may be remanded under this section in the same manner in all respects as a person accused of an indictable offence may be remanded.

Procedure

773. Where an indictable offence is, under the circumstances stated in sections 774 and 776 authorised to be dealt with summarily —

- (a) the procedure shall, unless the Court exercises its power to deal with the offence summarily, be the same in all respects as if the offence were to be dealt with throughout the trial as an indictable offence, but when the Court exercises its power to deal with the offence summarily, the same procedure shall apply as if the offence were a summary offence and not an indictable offence, and the provisions of this Code shall apply accordingly;
- (b) the evidence of any witness taken before the Court exercised its power to try the offence summarily need not be taken again, but every witness shall, if the defendant so requires it, be recalled for the purpose of cross-examination;
- (c) a conviction for the offence shall have the same effect as a conviction for the offence on indictment ;

- (d) where the Court exercises the power to deal with the case summarily, and dismisses the complaint, it shall, if required, deliver to the person charged a copy of the order of dismissal duly certified under the hand of the Magistrate and such dismissal shall have the same effect as an acquittal on a trial on indictment for the offence;
- (e) in the case of a child, the conviction shall contain a statement, as to the consent or otherwise of his or her parent or guardian, and, in case of a young person, of the consent of the person, to be tried by the Court.

Complaint for offence triable either on indictment or summarily

774.— (1) Where a complaint is laid for a charge against any person with an offence which by virtue of any enactment is both an indictable offence and a summary offence, the Court shall, if the accused has attained the age of twelve, proceed as if the offence is not a summary offence, unless the Court, having jurisdiction to try the complaint summarily, determines on the application of the prosecutor to do so.

(2) An application under subsection(1) shall be made before any evidence is called and, if the accused fails to appear to answer to the complaint, the application may be made in his or her absence.

(3) Subject to subsection (4), where the Court has, in pursuance of subsection (1), begun to inquire into the complaint as an indictable offence, then if at any time during the inquiry it appears to the Court, having regard to any representations made in the presence of the accused by the prosecutor, or made by the accused, and to the nature of the offence, that it is proper to do so, the Court may proceed to try the offence summarily.

(4) Where the prosecution is conducted by or behalf of the Director of Public Prosecution, the Court shall not proceed under subsection (3) to try the offence summarily without the consent of the Director of Public Prosecution.

(5) Where the Court proceeds to try a case summarily under subsection (3) it shall, before asking the accused whether he or she pleads guilty, cause the charge to be written down, if this has not already been done, and read to him or her,

(6) Where, the Court has begun to try a complaint summarily under subsection (1), the Court may, at any time before the conclusion of the evidence for the prosecution, discontinue the summary trial and proceed to inquire into the complaint as an indictable offence.

(7) Nothing in this section shall affect the right of the accused or the prosecutor under any enactment to claim that an offence which is being tried summarily should be tried by a jury.

Summary trial of complaint against adult for certain indictable offences

775.— (1) The following provisions of this section shall have effect where a person who has attained the age of sixteen years is brought before a District Court on a complaint charging him or her with any indictable offence specified under this section.

(2) If at any time during an inquiry into an offence it appears to the Court, having regard to any representations made in the presence of the accused by the prosecutor or made by the accused, and to the nature of the offence, that the punishment that the Court has power to impose under this section would be adequate and that the circumstances do not make the offence one of serious character and do not for other reasons require trial on indictment, the Court may proceed to try the case summarily.

(3) For the purpose of proceeding under section (2), the Court shall cause the charge to be written down, if this has not already been done, and read to the accused and shall inform him or her that he or she may, if he or she consents, be tried summarily instead of being tried by a jury, and if the Court thinks it desirable for his or her information, shall explain what is meant by being tried summarily.

(4) The Court, after informing the accused of his or her options as required under subsection (3), shall ask him or her whether he or she wishes to be tried by a jury or consents to be tried summarily, and if he or she consents to be tried summarily, the Court shall proceed to summary trial of the complaint.

(5) A person summarily convicted of an indictable offence under this section is liable to imprisonment for a term not exceeding two years or a fine not exceeding two thousand dollars.

(6) Nothing in this section shall empower a District Court to try an indictable offence summarily —

(a) without the consent of the prosecutor in a case affecting the property or affairs of the Government or of any local authority or other body which has power to act under or for the purposes of any enactment relating to local government;

- (b) without the consent of the Director of Public Prosecution where the prosecution is being carried on by him or her or on his or her behalf.

(7) Where any person is convicted under this section of an offence of inciting to commit a summary offence, he or she is not liable to a penalty greater than that to which he or she would otherwise be liable if he or she were convicted summarily of the summary offence.

(8) Notwithstanding any provisions of this Code on attempts, where a person is convicted under this section of attempting to commit an offence that is both an indictable offence and a summary offence, he or she is not liable to any greater penalty than he or she would be liable to on being summarily convicted of the completed offence.

(9) The offences to which this section relates are —

- (a) offences under section 94 of this Code (attempted suicide);
- (b) offences under sections 243, 244 and 245 of this Code (relating to noteage); offence.

Reduction of charge from indictable to summary offence

776. Notwithstanding the provisions of section 774 (4) and section 775 (6) (b), where, on the holding of any preliminary inquiry on a charge of an indictable offence, the Magistrate is of the opinion that the evidence establishes or appears to establish, the commission of a summary offence of a kind similar to the offence charged or an abetment, or an attempt or incitement to commit that summary offence, the Magistrate may, if he or she thinks fit, inform the accused person accordingly, and all further proceedings thereafter in the matter shall be the same as if a complaint had been made against the person for the offence or abetment, attempt or incitement.

Summary Trial of Child

Summary trial of child other than for murder

777.— (1) Where a child is charged before the Court with any indictable offence other than murder, the Court, if it thinks it expedient so to do, and if the parent or guardian of the child, when informed by the Court of his or her right to have the child tried by a jury, does not object to the child being dealt with summarily, may deal summarily with the offence, and, in the case of conviction, inflict the same punishment as might have been inflicted if the case had been tried on indictment, provided that —

- (a) where a term of imprisonment is imposed, the term does not in any case exceed six months;
- (b) where a fine is imposed, the amount does not in any case exceed five hundred dollars.

(2) For the purposes of proceedings under this section, the Court shall, at any time during the hearing of the case at which it becomes satisfied by the evidence that it is expedient to deal with the case summarily, cause the complaint to be reduced into writing, if this has not already been done, and to be read to the parent or guardian of the child.

(3) The Court shall then address a question to such parent or guardian in the following terms:

“Do you desire the child to be tried by a jury, and object to the case being dealt with summarily by this Court?”

with a statement, if the Court thinks such statement desirable for the information of such parent or guardian, of the meaning of the case being dealt with summarily, and of the sitting of the High Court at which the child will be tried, if tried by a jury.

(4) Where the parent or guardian is not present when the child is charged, the Court may, if it thinks it just so to do, remand the child for the purpose of causing notice to be served on such parent or guardian, with a view of securing, so far as may be practicable, his or her attendance at the hearing of the charge, or the Court may, if it thinks it expedient so to do, deal with the case summarily.

(5) Nothing in this section shall render punishable for an indictable offence any child who is not, in the opinion of the Magistrate before whom he or she is tried, of or above the age of twelve years, and of sufficient capacity to commit crime.

Summary Trial of Young Person

Summary trial of young person with his or her consent

778.— (1) Where a young person is charged before the Court with an indictable offence, other than murder, the Court, if it thinks it expedient so to do, having regard to the character and antecedents of the person charged, the nature of the offence, and all the circumstances of the case, and if when the young person charged with the offence is informed by the Court of his or her right to be tried by a jury, consents to be dealt with summarily, the Court may deal summarily with the offence and in its discretion, order the person, if found guilty of the offence, either to pay a fine not exceeding five hundred dollars or to be imprisoned for any term, not exceeding six months.

(2) For the purposes of proceedings under this section, the Court shall, at any time during the hearing of the case at which it becomes satisfied by the evidence that it is expedient to deal with the case summarily, cause the complaint to be reduced into writing, if this has not been already done, and read to the young person charged.

(3) The Court shall then address a question to him or her in the following terms:

“Do you desire to be tried by a jury or do you consent to the case being dealt with summarily by this Court?”

(5) The Magistrate shall then say to the accused —

“I must warn you that if this Court should commit you for trial you may not be permitted at that trial to give evidence of an alibi or to call witnesses in support of an alibi unless you have earlier given particulars of the alibi and of the witnesses, you may give those particulars to the prosecutor not later than seven days from the end of these committal proceedings.”

- (b) give evidence himself or herself or call witnesses; or
- (c) submit that the prosecution statements disclose insufficient evidence to put him or her on trial by jury for the offence with which he or she is charged.

(2) If the Magistrate is satisfied that the accused or as the case maybe, each of the accused persons, does not wish to take any of the steps mentioned in paragraphs (a), (b) and (c) of subsection (1) and determines, after receiving any written statements tendered by the prosecution and the defence under section 800, to commit the accused for trial without consideration of the evidence the Magistrate shall proceed in accordance with subsection (3) and in any other case the Court shall proceed in accordance with section 798.

(3) The Magistrate shall then say to the accused —

“You will be committed for trial by jury but I must warn you that at that trial you may not be permitted to give evidence of an alibi or other special defence to call witnesses in support of an alibi or other special defence unless you have earlier given particulars of the alibi or other special defence and the witnesses. You or your counsel may give those particulars now to this Court or at any time in the next seven days to the prosecutor.”

- (c) before the statement is tendered in evidence a copy of the statement is given by or on behalf of the prosecutor, to each of the other parties to the proceedings; and
- (d) none of the other parties, before the statement is tendered in evidence at the committal proceedings, objects to the statement being tendered under this section.

(4) The Court may, if it is satisfied that the ends of justice require it, order any count to be amended or divided into two or more counts, and, on such order being made, the count shall be so divided or amended, and a formal commencement may be inserted before each of the counts into which it is divided.

Sufficiency of averment as to bank-note or note described as money

822. In every indictment in which it is necessary to make averment as to any money or bank-note, it is sufficient to describe the money or bank-note simply as money, without specifying any particular note, or bank-note, and an allegation, so far as it concerns the description of the property, shall be sustained —

- (a) by proof of any amount of note or of any bank- note, although the particular species of note of which the amount was composed, or the particular nature of the bank- notes shall not be proved;
- (b) in the case of money or bank- note obtained by false pretences or by any other unlawful act, by proof that the offender obtained any note or bank- note, or any portion of its value although such note or bank- note may have been delivered it to him or her in order that part of its value should be returned to the party who delivered it, or, to any other person, and that part has been returned accordingly.

(3) A count for libel may charge that the matter published was written in a sense which would make the publishing criminal, specifying the sense without any prefatory averment showing how that matter was written in the sense, and at the trial it is sufficient to prove that the matter published was criminal, either with or without any innuendo.

Count for perjury, etc. not invalid etc.

825.— (1) Subject to subsection (2), no count charging perjury, the making of a false oath or of a false statement, fabricating evidence, subornation, or procuring the commission of any of these offences, shall be deemed insufficient on the ground that it does not state the nature of the authority of the tribunal before which the oath or statement was taken or made, or the subject of the inquiry, or the words used, or the evidence fabricated, or on the ground that it does not expressly negative the truth of the words used.

(2) The Court may, if it is satisfied that it is necessary for a fair trial, order that the prosecutor furnishes particulars of what is relied on in support of the charge.

(3) If, at any time during the trial, it appears to the Court that any count is not so founded, and that injustice has been or is likely to be done to the accused in consequence of the count, the Court may quash the count and discharge the jury from finding any verdict based upon it, if the Court is satisfied that is in the interest of justice.

Objection for formal defect

860.— (1) Every objection to any indictment for any formal defect apparent on the face of it shall be taken before the jury is sworn and not after the jury has been sworn.

Discharge of accused on plea of autrefois convict

867.— (1) On the trial of an issue on a plea of autrefois convict to any count or counts, if it appears that the matter on which the accused person was given in charge on the former trial is the same in whole or in part as that on which it is proposed to give him or her in charge, and that he or she might on the former trial, if all proper amendments had been made which might then have been made, have been convicted of all the offences of which he or she may be convicted on the count or counts to which such plea is pleaded, the Court shall give judgment that he or she be discharged from the count or counts.

(2) If it appears that the accused might, on the former trial, have been convicted of any offence of which he or she may be convicted on the count or counts to which such plea is pleaded, but that he or she may be convicted on the count or counts of some offence or offences of which he or she could not have been convicted on the former trial, the Court shall direct that he or she shall not be convicted on the count or counts of any offence of which he or she might have been convicted on the former trial, but that he or she shall plead over as to the other offence or offences charged.

868. Where an indictment charges substantially the same offence as that charged in the indictment on which the accused person was given in charge on a previous trial, but adds a statement of intention or circumstances of aggravation tending, if proved, to increase the punishment, the previous acquittal or conviction shall be a bar to the subsequent indictment.

Acquittal or conviction for murder a bar to second charge of manslaughter and vice versa

869.— (1) A previous acquittal or conviction on an indictment for murder is a bar to a second indictment for the same offence being charged as manslaughter.

(3) If it appears, at the trial of an issue on a plea of autrefois acquit or autrefois convict to an indictment for murder or manslaughter, that the first trial was for an offence committed against the person now alleged to have been killed, and the death of the person is now alleged to have been caused by the offence previously charged, but that the death happened after the trial at which the accused was acquitted or convicted, as the case may be, then, if it appears on the first trial accused, if convicted, might have been sentenced to imprisonment with hard labour for three years or more, the Court shall direct that the accused be discharged from the indictment before it, or direct that the accused pleads o v e r .

Use of deposition and Judge's notes to try plea of autrefois acquit or convict

Proceeding on pleas other than plea of guilty

871. Unless it is otherwise expressly provided in this Code if the accused pleads any plea, other than the plea of guilty, he or she is, by such plea without any further form, deemed to have demanded that the issues raised by such plea shall be tried by a jury and is entitled to have them tried accordingly.

872.— (1) When the issues raised by any plea except the plea of not guilty, have been found against an accused person, who has not pleaded the plea of not guilty, he or she shall be called upon to plead afresh, and, if those issues have been tried by a jury, the Judge may direct the issues raised by any fresh plea to be tried by the same jury or another jury.

(2) If the Judge directs that those issues be tried by the same jury, it is not necessary that the jury should be sworn afresh, but the oath already taken by them is to be deemed to extend to the trial of any fresh issues.

873. Every person who is committed for trial by Magistrate on a charge of having committed an indictable offence, or against whom an indictment is preferred, shall be tried on indictment in the Court.

Trial to be by Judge and jury

- (e) if it is proved upon oath before the Magistrate or Justice of the Peace that the accused person is, at the time of the application and production of the certificate, confined in a correctional facility for any other offence than that charged in the indictment, the Magistrate or Justice of the Peace shall issue a warrant directed to the correctional officer, commanding him or her to detain the person in custody until he or she is, by lawful authority, removed from custody.

Forfeiture of recognizance of accused and sureties

881.— (1) If, on trial of any indictment, there appears to be a variance between the proof and the charge in any count in the indictment, either as preferred, or as amended, or as it would have been if amended in conformity with any such particulars, the Court may amend the indictment, or any count in it, or any particulars so as to make it conformable with the proof.

(2) If the Court is of opinion that the accused person has not been misled or prejudiced in his or her defence by such variance, it shall make such amendment.

(3) If it appears that there is in the indictment, or in any count in it, an omission to state or a defective statement of anything requisite to constitute the offence, but that the matter omitted is provided by the evidence, the Court shall, if it is of the opinion that the accused has not been misled or prejudiced in his or her defence by such omission, amend the count by inserting in it the matter omitted.

(4) The trial in either of these cases may then proceed in all respects as if the indictment or count had been originally framed as amended.

(5) If the Court is of the opinion that the accused has been misled or prejudiced in his or her defence by any variance, or omission, or defective statement, but that the effect of such misleading or prejudice might be removed by adjourning or postponing the trial, the Court may, in its discretion, make the amendment and adjourn the trial to a future day in the same sittings, or discharge the jury and postpone the trial to the next sittings of the Court, on such terms as it thinks just.

(6) In determining whether the accused has been misled or prejudiced in his or her defence, the Court shall consider the contents of the written statements, or depositions tendered by the prosecution, as well as such other circumstances of the case.

Insertion, or change, of count to meet plea

882.— (1) The Court may allow any count to be inserted in the indictment, or to be altered, or added to, to meet any plea which the accused is willing to plead and which the prosecution is willing to accept.

(2) The Court may alter or add to any count at any time before judgment is pronounced.

(3) Every such insertion, alteration or addition, shall be read and explained to the accused.

Terms and conditions of amendments

883. Whenever the Court allows an amendment, it shall do so only on such terms and conditions, if any, as to costs or otherwise as may be considered just and proper.

Correction of errors

884. It shall be competent to correct any error in the minutes or procedure or in the extract of any sentence or order or judgment at any time, and any such correction shall be sufficiently authenticated by the initials of a proper officer of the Court.

Order to bring up inmate in custody for the other cause

885. If the person against whom an indictment is preferred is at the time confined for some other cause in the correctional facility, the Court may, by order in writing, without a writ of habeas corpus, direct the correctional officer to bring up to the body of the person, as often as may be required, for the purpose of the trial, and the correctional officer shall obey such order.

(3) A trial is deemed to begin when the accused is called upon to plead to the indictment.

Accused committed for sentence to plead

888. A person who has been committed for sentence shall be called upon to plead to the indictment.

No pleading to previous conviction count. Exception

889. Unless otherwise expressly provided, where an indictment contains a count charging the accused person with having been previously convicted, he or she shall not, at the time of his or her arraignment, be required to plead to it unless he or she pleads guilty to the rest of the indictment, nor shall such count be mentioned to the jury when the accused is given in charge to them, nor shall he or she be tried upon the count if he or she is acquitted on the other counts.

No plea in abatement

890. No plea in abatement shall be allowed.

Competent pleas

891.— (1) When the accused person is called upon to plead, he or she may plead either guilty or not guilty, or he or she may object or plead such special pleas as are provided in this Sub-Part.

(2) If the accused wilfully refuses to plead or will not answer directly, the Court may, if it thinks fit, order the Registrar to enter a plea of not guilty.

Jury to find if accused capable to plead and take his or her trial

892.— (1) If, when the accused is called upon to plead to the indictment, it appears to be uncertain for any reason whether he or she is capable of understanding the proceedings at the trial so as to be able to make a proper defence, a jury chosen from the panel of jurors shall be empanelled forthwith and shall be sworn to find whether or not he or she is so capable.

(2) Where the jury find that the accused person is so capable of understanding the proceedings, the trial shall proceed as in other cases.

(3) Where the jury find that he or she is not capable, of understanding the proceedings, the finding shall be recorded and the Court may order the accused to be discharged or may order him or her to be kept in custody in such place and in such manner as the Court thinks fit until he or she can be dealt with according to law.

(4) A person so found to be incapable of understanding the proceedings at the trial may subsequently be indicted and tried for the offence if he or she is then found capable of understanding the proceedings.

Giving accused in charge to jury

893. Where the jury have been sworn to give a true verdict according to the evidence upon the issues to be tried by them, and have elected

Deposition signed by Magistrate to be evidence

894.— (1) A deposition taken at committal proceedings may be produced and given in evidence at the trial of the person against whom or for whom it was taken, if it is proved, to the satisfaction of the Judge —

- (a) that the deponent is dead, or so ill as not to be able to travel, although there may be a prospect of his or her recovery; or
- (b) that the deponent is kept out of the way by the prosecutor or the accused person; or
- (c) that the deponent is absent from the State or cannot be found after diligent search, or cannot be compelled to attend the Court, and if the Court is satisfied that such absence is caused by, or is due to any improper motive on the part of the deponent, and, if such motive exists, that there is any collusion between the deponent and the party tendering the deposition in respect of such motive, this provision shall not apply;
- (d) that the deponent is mentally ill so as to be incapable of testimony; or
- (e) if the deposition purports to be signed by the Magistrate by or before whom it purports to have been taken; or
- (f) if it is proved to by the person who offers it as evidence that it was taken in the presence of the accused person or the prosecutor, as the case may be, or, in cases where the deposition was taken after committal, that notice of the examination was given as provided in this Code, to the party against whom the deposition is proposed to be given in evidence.

(2) If the deposition purports to have been taken and signed, it is presumed, in the absence of evidence to the contrary, to have been duly taken, read and signed.

(3) If it is made to appear to the Judge that the witness who made the deposition may, within a reasonable time, be capable of attending to give evidence and that the ends of justice require that the witness should be examined personally before the jury, the Court may postpone the trial on such terms as may seem proper.

Evidence at former trial similarly admissible

895. The evidence of a witness given at a previous trial under like circumstances as mentioned in section 894 shall be admissible on any subsequent trial of the same charges.

896.— (1) At the trial of a person charged with handling stolen goods, evidence may be given at any stage of the proceedings that there was found in his or her possession other property stolen within the immediately preceding period of twelve months, and such evidence may be taken into consideration for the purpose of proving that he or she knew the property to be stolen which is the subject of the proceedings taken against him or her.

(2) At the trial of a person charged with handling stolen goods, where evidence has been given that the stolen property was found in his or her possession, then if, within immediately preceding period of five years he or she has been convicted of any offence involving fraud or dishonesty, evidence of his or her previous conviction may be given at any stage of the proceedings after he or she has been given not less than three days written notice by the prosecutor to give evidence of his or her previous convictions.

(3) Evidence of the previous convictions of an accused person may be taken into consideration for the purpose of proving that the accused person knew the property was stolen.

(4) For the purposes of this section it is not necessary to set out in the indictment the previous convictions.

Jury to determine issues as to previous conviction

897.— (1) Where an indictment contains a count charging the accused person with having been previously convicted, if he or she is convicted on any other part of the indictment, he or she shall be asked whether or not he or she has been previously convicted as alleged, and if he or she says that he or she has not or does not say that he or she has been so convicted, the jury shall be charged to inquire into the matter.

(2) If, upon the trial of the person for any subsequent offence evidence is given on the part of the accused of his or her good character, the prosecutor may, in rebuttal, prove such previous conviction, and the jury shall be charged to inquire into the matter together with the offence to be tried.

Previous conviction, how proved

898.— (1) Where the person indicted for an offence has previously been convicted of any offence, it is lawful for the prosecutor, if accused has denied such conviction, to give notice that in the event of his or her pleading guilty or being found guilty of the offence for which he or she is indicted, proof will be given of any previous conviction.

(2) When notice has been duly served on the accused that evidence of any previous conviction would be offered against him or her, in accordance with subsection (1), it is lawful, where the person pleads guilty or is found guilty, for the prosecutor before sentence is pronounced to offer to prove such previous conviction or convictions, and the Court shall then ask the accused whether he or she confesses to the fact that he or she is the person who has been previously convicted and whether he or she was previously convicted as alleged.

(3) If the accused does not confess any such matter, then, in the event of his or her pleading guilty, the Court shall empanel a jury, and in case of the accused person not pleading guilty, shall direct the jury which convicted him or her to try the truth of any matter, to which the accused does not confess, or admit.

(4) If on trial by the jury, the previous convictions of the accused or any of them to which he or she does not confess or admit is proved, or if he or she confesses or admits such previous convictions or any of them, then the Court shall take into account such of the previous convictions as has been proved or confessed or admitted, in passing sentence for the offence to which the accused has pleaded guilty or of which he or she has been found guilty.

903.— (1) If the Judge is of opinion that any witness who is not called for the prosecution ought to be called, he or she may require the prosecutor to call such witness, and if the witness does not attend, the Judge may make an order that his or her attendance be procured, and the Court may, if it thinks fit adjourn the further hearing of the case to some other time during the sittings.

(2) If, in such a case, the Judge is of opinion that it would be conducive to the ends of justice so to do, it may, upon the application of the accused, discharge the jury and postpone the trial.

Court to dispense with production of medical or other witness

904.— (1) Without prejudice to any other provision, the Judge may dispense with the production of a Government medical officer or other person as a witness at a criminal trial in the High Court, if in the opinion of the Judge that the evidence of such witness is merely formal, or is not really material to the guilt or innocence of the accused, or that the trial, without injustice to the accused, can proceed without such witness being called.

(2) In such a case the Judge may allow the deposition of such witness taken at the preliminary inquiry to be read at the trial.

Witness for prosecution not previously examined

905. If the Judge is of the opinion that the accused person is taken by surprise, in a manner likely to be prejudicial to his or her defence, by the production on behalf of the prosecution of a witness who did not give any deposition, or of whom the prosecutor has not given sufficient notice to the accused of his or her intention to produce, the Court may, on the application of the accused, adjourn the further hearing of the case, or discharge the jury from giving a verdict, and postpone the trial.

and that the presence of such witness is material in the interest of justice, the Judge may, by warrant, cause such witness to be arrested and forthwith brought before him or her to give evidence and to answer for his or her disregard of the summons.

(2) The Judge may detain such witness before the Court or in the prison or lock-up, in order to secure his or her presence as a witness, or may release him or her on a recognizance with or without sureties as a condition for his or her appearance to give evidence and to answer for his or her default in not attending or not remaining in attendance at the trial.

(3) The Court may, in a summary manner, inquire into and dispose of the charge against the witness, who, if found guilty of the charge, is liable to a fine not exceeding five hundred dollars, or to imprisonment for a term not exceeding three months or to both, and the recognizance of such witness and his or her sureties, if any, entered into at the preliminary inquiry shall be forfeited.

and a copy may be in such form as the prosecutor thinks fit and need not be in the same form as that in which the information has already been recorded.

(4) Where the material consists of information which has not been recorded, the prosecutor discloses it for the purposes of this section by ensuring that it is recorded in such form as he or she thinks fit and —

- (a) by ensuring that a copy is made of it and that the copy is given to the accused; or
- (b) if in the prosecutor's opinion it is not practicable or not desirable, by allowing the accused to inspect it at a reasonable time and place or by taking steps to ensure that he or she is allowed to do so.

ecutor discloses it for the purpose of this section by allowing the accused to inspect it at a reasonable time and place or by taking steps to ensure that he or she is allowed to do so.

(6) Material shall not be disclosed under this section to the extent that the Court, on an application by the prosecutor, concludes that it is not in the public interest to disclose it and orders accordingly.

Voluntary Disclosure by accused

909.— (1) Subject to any guidelines as the Director of Public Prosecutions may from time to time issue, at the trial of an accused for an offence, the accused shall, where the prosecutor has complied with section 908 give a defence statement to the prosecutor; and to the Court.

(2) For the purposes of this section a defence statement is a written statement —

- (a) setting out in general terms the nature of the accused's defence; ;
- (b) indicating the matters on which he or she takes issue with the prosecution; and
- (c) setting out in the case of each such matter, the reason why he or she takes issue with the prosecution.

(3) If the defence statement discloses a special defence the accused must give particulars of the defence in the statement, including —

- (a) the name and address of any witness the accused believes is able to give evidence in support of the special defence if the name and address are known to the accused when the statement is given;
- (b) any information in the accused's possession which might be of material assistance in finding any such witness, if his or her name and address are not given.

(2) If the Court considers that there is evidence that the accused committed the offence charged or any other offence of which he or she might be convicted on the indictment, the Court shall call on the accused to enter on his or her defence.

SUB-PART B – PRINCIPLES OF JUDICIAL SENTENCING

Restrictions on the imposition of custodial sentences

1096.— (1) This section applies where a person is convicted of an offence punishable with a custodial sentence other than one fixed by law.

(2) Subject to subsection (3), the Court shall not pass a custodial sentence on the offender unless it is of opinion —

- (a) that the offence, or the combination of the offence and one other offence associated with the offence, was so serious that only such a sentence can be justified for the offence; or
- (b) where the offence is of a violent or sexual nature, that only such a sentence would be adequate to protect the public from serious harm from the offender.

(3) Nothing in subsection (2) prevents the Court from passing a custodial sentence on an offender if the offender refuses to consent to a community sentence which is proposed by the Court and requires that consent.

(4) Where a Court passes a custodial sentence it is the Court's duty —

- (a) in a case not falling within subsection (3), to state in open Court that it is of the opinion that either or both of paragraphs (a) and (b) of subsection (2) apply and why it is of that opinion; and
- (b) in any case, to explain to the offender in open Court and in ordinary language why it is passing a custodial sentence on the offender.

(5) A Court shall cause a reason stated by it under subsection (4) to be specified in the warrant of commitment and to be entered in the record of the Court.

Length of custodial sentences

1097.— (1) This section applies where a Court passes a custodial sentence.

(2) The custodial sentence shall be —

- (a) for any term (not exceeding the permitted maximum) as in the opinion of the Court is commensurate with the seriousness of the offence, or the combination of the offence and other offences associated with the offence; or
- (b) where the offence is of a violent or sexual nature, for such longer term (not exceeding that maximum) as in the opinion of the Court is necessary to protect the public from serious harm from the offender.

(3) Where the Court passes a custodial sentence for a term longer than is commensurate with the seriousness of the offence, or the combination of the offence and other offences associated with it, the Court shall —

- (a) state in open Court that it is of opinion that subsection (2) (b) applies and why it is of that opinion; and
- (b) explain to the offender in open Court and in ordinary language why the sentence is for such a term.

(4) A custodial sentence for an indeterminate period shall be regarded for the purposes of subsections (2) and (3) as a custodial sentence for a term longer than any actual term.

Procedural requirements for custodial sentences

1098.— (1) Subject to subsection (2), a Court shall obtain and consider a pre-sentence report before forming any such opinion as is mentioned in subsection (2) of either section 1096 or section 1097.

(2) Where the offence or any other offence associated with it is triable only on indictment, subsection (1) does not apply if, in the circumstances of the case, the Court is of the opinion that it is unnecessary to obtain a pre-sentence report.

(3) In forming any such opinion as is mentioned in subsection (2) of either section 1096 or section 1097 a Court —

- (a) shall take into account all such information about the circumstances of the offence (including any aggravating or mitigating factors) as is available to the Court; and
- (b) in the case of any such opinion as is mentioned in paragraph (b) of that subsection, may take into account any information about the offender which is before the Court.

(4) A custodial sentence which is passed in a case to which subsection (1) applies is not invalidated by the failure of the Court passing sentence to comply with that subsection but any Court, on an appeal against such a sentence —

- (a) shall obtain a pre-sentence report if none was obtained by the Court passing sentence; and
- (b) shall consider any such report obtained by it or by the Court passing sentence.

(5) A “pre-sentence report” in this Sub-Part means a report in writing which is made by a probation officer with a view to assisting the Court in determining the most suitable method of dealing with an offender.

Additional requirements in the case of mentally disordered offenders

1099.— (1) Subject to subsection (2), in any case where section 1098 applies and where the offender is or appears to be mentally disordered, the Court shall obtain and consider a medical report before passing a custodial sentence other than one fixed by law.

(2) Subsection (1) does not apply if, in the circumstances of the case, the Court is of opinion that it is unnecessary to obtain a medical report.

(3) Before passing a custodial sentence other than one fixed by law on an offender who is or appears to be mentally disordered, a Court shall consider —

- (a) any information before it which relates to the offender’s mental condition (whether given in a medical report, a pre-sentence report or otherwise); and
- (b) the likely effect of such a sentence on that condition and on any treatment which may be available for it.

(4) A custodial sentence which is passed in a case to which subsection (1) applies is not invalidated by the failure of the Court passing sentence to comply with that subsection, but any Court, on an appeal against such a sentence —

- (a) shall obtain a medical report if none was obtained by the Court; and
- (b) shall consider any such report obtained by it or by the Court passing sentence.

(5) In this section —

“medical report” means a report as to an offender’s mental condition made or submitted orally or in writing by a qualified registered medical practitioner;

“qualified” in relation to a registered medical practitioner, means appearing to the Court to have special knowledge and experience of cases of mental disorder.

(6) Nothing in this section prejudices the generality of section 1098.

Saving for mitigation and mentally disordered offenders

1100— (1) Nothing in this Code prevents a Court from mitigating an offender’s sentence by taking into account any such matters as, in the opinion of the Court, are relevant in mitigation.

(2) Without prejudice to the generality of subsection (1), nothing in this Code prevents a Court —

- (a) from mitigating any penalty included in an offender’s sentence by taking into account any other penalty included in that sentence; or
- (b) in a case of an offender who is convicted of more than one offence, from mitigating the offender’s sentence by applying any rule of law as to the totality of sentences.

(3) Nothing in this Code —

- (a) requires a Court to pass a custodial sentence, or any particular custodial sentence, on a mentally disordered offender; or
- (b) restricts any power which enables a Court to deal with a mentally disordered offender in the manner the Court considers to be most appropriate in all the circumstances.

Effect of previous convictions etc.

1101.— (1) An offence shall not be regarded as more serious for the purposes of any provision of this Code by reason of any previous convictions of the offender or any failure on the part of the offender to respond to previous sentences.

(2) Where any aggravating factors of an offence are disclosed by the circumstances of other offences committed by the offender, nothing in this Code prevents the Court from taking those factors into account for the purpose of forming an opinion as to the seriousness of the offence.

General judicial guidelines

1102.— (1) Without prejudice to sections 1096 to 1101, a Court in sentencing an offender convicted by or before the Court shall observe the general guidelines set forth in subsection (2).

- (2) The guidelines referred to in subsection (1) are as follows —
 - (a) The rehabilitation of the offender is one of the aims of sentencing,
 - (b) The gravity of a punishment must be commensurate with the gravity of the offence.
 - (c) An offender shall only not be sentenced for an offence of which the offender has been convicted or for another offence or other offences which the offender has asked the Court to take into consideration in passing sentence.
 - (d) Where a fine is imposed, the Court in fixing the amount of the fine must take into account, among other relevant considerations, the means of the offender so far as these are known to the Court, regardless of whether this will increase or reduce the amount of the fine.

SUB-PART C – SENTENCING AND ORDERS IN GENERAL

1103.— (1) Subject to section 1104 the Attorney-General may, after consultation with the Chief Justice may, from time to time, after consultation with the Attorney-General and the Director of Public Prosecutions, issue to the District Courts, Sentencing Guidelines with respect to such offences as he or she may consider appropriate, and these Guidelines shall be complied with by every Magistrate.

Commencement of imprisonment on conviction before High Court 1124. Subject to section 1104 or any other provision, a sentence of imprisonment upon conviction before the High Court takes effect from the day on which sentence is passed unless the sentence is suspended under the provisions of this Code, or the offender is not in custody or is released on bail, pending the decision of the Court of Appeal on a question reserved, and in such cases the sentence shall take effect from the date on which he or she surrenders or is taken into custody to undergo his or her sentence.

Commencement of imprisonment on summary conviction

1125. A sentence of imprisonment upon a summary conviction takes effect from the date the offender is taken into custody upon his or her conviction.

Computation of imprisonment

1126. When any person is brought by any police officer to a correctional facility to be imprisoned by virtue of a commitment, the police officer shall endorse on the commitment the day on which that person was arrested, and the imprisonment shall be computed as from that day.

Computation of imprisonment in case of escape

1127.— (1) A prisoner who escapes from lawful custody while undergoing a sentence of imprisonment is liable upon recapture to undergo the punishment which he or she was undergoing at the time of his or her escape and in addition for a further term equal to the period during which he or she was absent from the correctional facility after the escape and before the expiration of the term of his or her original sentence whether or not at the time of his or her recapture the term of the original sentence, has expired.

Reduction of imprisonment on part payment

1128.— (1) Where a term of imprisonment is imposed in respect of the non-payment of any sum of money adjudged to be paid by virtue of a conviction or an order, the term of imprisonment shall, on payment to a person authorised to receive it, of a part of such sum, be reduced by a number of days bearing as nearly as possible the same proportion to the total number of days of the term of imprisonment as the sum paid bears to the sum adjudged to be paid, subject to the provisions of subsections (2) to (5) of this section.

(2) Fractions of a dollar shall be omitted.

(3) The sum tendered must secure one day's reduction of the sentence or some multiple thereof, and when a warrant of distress or commitment has been issued no part payment shall be accepted until the fee, if any, payable under such warrant has been discharged.

(4) The first day of a term of imprisonment or detention shall not be counted, as a person is not entitled to be discharged on the first day of his or her imprisonment or detention, except upon payment in full of the sum adjudged to be paid by the person.

(5) Subject to any express provision or direction to the contrary, the proper officer of the Court shall apply any sum paid and received in part payment towards the payment in full or in part, firstly, of any costs adjudged to be paid to the person, secondly, of any damages or compensation adjudged to be paid to any person and thirdly, in the manner in which fines are applied.

Termination of imprisonment on payment or levy

Commitment implied on pronouncement of sentence

1130. When in any Court, imprisonment including imprisonment for non-payment of money forms part of any sentence, there is implied by such sentence, without more, the power of the Court to issue a warrant for the arrest, detention and commitment of the accused or for the imprisonment of any other person.

Order or extract thereof sufficient warrant

1131. Where imprisonment is authorised, the making of the order as well as an extract of the order shall be a sufficient warrant for the arrest and commitment of the accused, and no such extract shall be void or liable to be set aside on account of any error or defect form.

Power to issue warrant of commitment on default of payment

1132. Where an order is made against any person for the payment of a sum of money, and the person is liable to be imprisoned, for a specified time, unless such sum is sooner paid, if the person does not pay the sum, together with costs, if awarded, forthwith or at the time specified in such order, the Court may issue a warrant of commitment, under the hand of the Court —

- (a) requiring the police officer to whom the warrant is directed to take the person to the correctional facility and deliver him or her to the correctional officer; and
- (b) requiring the correctional officer to receive the person into the correctional facility and there to imprison him or her or to imprison and commit him or her to hard labour, as the case may be, for such time as may be directed and appointed by the warrant of commitment, unless the sum adjudged to be paid, and also all costs and charges, are sooner paid.

Delivery of warrant and person named therein to correctional officer

1133.— (1) The police officer to whom the warrant of commitment is directed shall convey the person named in the warrant to a correctional facility and deliver him or her together with such warrant, to the prison officer, who shall then give the police officer a receipt in respect of the person, which shall set forth the condition in which the person was when he or she was delivered into the custody of the correctional officer.

(2) It is not necessary to address any warrant of committal under this or any other section of this Code to the prison officer, but upon delivery of any warrant to the correctional officer by the person charged with the execution thereof, such correctional officer shall receive and detain the person named in the warrant, or detain him or her, if he or she is already in his or her custody, for such period and for such purpose as the warrant directs.

(2) The expenses in respect of the maintenance of persons detained under this section may be defrayed in like manner as the expenses for the maintenance of inmates in a correctional facility.

(3) The Cabinet may certify any police cells or other places to be suitable places for the detention of persons sentenced to detention under this section, and may give directions or make regulations for the inspection of such places, the treatment of persons detained there, and generally for giving effect to this section.

Probation Orders

1157.— (1) Subject to subsection (2), where a Court by which a person is convicted of an offence (not being an offence the sentence for which is fixed by law) is of opinion that having regard to the circumstances including the nature of the offence and the character of the offender, it is expedient to do so, the Court may, instead of sentencing him or her, make probation order.

(2) The Court shall, before making a probation order, explain to the offender in ordinary language the effect of the order and that, if he or she fails in any respect to comply with the order or commits another offence, he or she will be liable to be sentenced for the original offence; and if the offender is not less than fourteen years of age the Court shall not make the probation order unless he or she expresses his or her willingness to comply with the conditions of the order.

Security for good behaviour

1160. Without prejudice to the provisions of section 1162 (2) which enables a Court to order the parent or guardian of a child or young person charged with an offence to give security for his or her good behaviour, the Court may, on making a probation order, if it thinks it expedient for the purpose of the reformation of the offender, allow any person who consents to do so give security for the good behaviour of the offender.

(7) A probationer who is required by the probation order to submit to treatment for his or her mental condition shall not be treated for the purposes of this section as having failed to comply with that condition on the ground only that he or she has refused to undergo any surgical, electrical or other treatment if, in the opinion of the Court, his or her refusal was reasonable having regard to all the circumstances.

(8) Without prejudice to the provisions of section 1163, a probationer who is convicted of an offence committed during the probation period shall not on that account be liable to be dealt with under this section for failing to comply with any condition of the probation order.

Commission of further offence

Discovery of further offence

Cases in which distress may be refused

1223. When an application is made to the Court for a warrant of distress and it appears to the Court —

- (b) that in the event of a warrant of distress being issued, his or her movable property will be insufficient to satisfy the sum of money adjudged to be paid by the order;

- (c) that the levy of the distress will be more injurious to him or her or his or her family than imprisonment;

or for any other sufficient reason, the Court may, if it thinks fit, instead of issuing the warrant of distress, order the offender, on non-payment of the adjudged sum, to be imprisoned, for any term not exceeding the term prescribed in relation to a like sum under section 1202.

1227. Where a warrant of distress is issued by the Court it shall authorise the person charged with the execution of the warrant, to take any money as well as any goods of the person against whom the distress is levied, and any money so taken shall be treated as if it were the proceeds of sale of goods taken under the warrant.

Duties of person executing warrant

1231. A person charged with the execution of any warrant of distress shall sell the property or cause it to be sold, and may deduct out of the amount realised by such sale all costs and charges actually incurred in effecting the sale, and shall pay to the proper officer of the Court or to the person specified by him or her, the remainder of the amount which may be applied in payment of the sum for which the warrant was issued, including the proper costs and charges incurred in respect of the execu-

Opposition to levy or on proceeds of sale

1234. All objections to the levy as well as all claims or objections to the proceeds of sale must be made and filed with the person charged with the execution at any time before the day of sale, unless the Court allows a further time for that purpose, in which case the Court may give such directions with respect to the sale, including the postponement of the sale as it may consider just.

Ranking and distribution of claims

1235. The amount to be levied shall rank by privilege on the proceeds of the distress and sale after the expenses and costs thereof in case no adverse claim or opposition has been duly filed, but if there is any such claim or opposition, the proceeds shall be distributed as in civil proceedings, subject in the case of dispute to the decision or direction of the Court.

Satisfaction of distress

1236. Where any person against whom a warrant of distress is issued pays or tenders to the person charged with the execution of the warrant the sum stated in the warrant or produces to him or her the receipt for payment of such sum issued by the proper officer of the Court, and also pays the amount of the costs and charges of such distress up to the time of payment or tender of payment, the person so charged shall cease to execute the warrant.

Decision of disputes respecting distress or sale

1237. If any question arises with respect to, or in the course of, such distress or sale, the matter shall be referred to the Judge or Magistrate, as the case may be, who shall decide the matter and give any directions he or she considers just or necessary.

Power to order imprisonment if distress insufficient

1259.— (1) Where a child is convicted of a summary offence, the Court may order, with or without any other punishment, that any fine, compensation, or costs awarded be paid by the parent or guardian of the child instead of by the child, unless the Court is satisfied that the parent or guardian cannot be found, or has not consented to the commission of the offence by neglecting to exercise due care of the child.

(2) Where a child is charged with a summary offence, the Court may order his or her parent or guardian to give security by way of recognizance for his or her good behaviour.

(3) Where the Court thinks that a charge against a child is proved, the Court may make an order on the parent or guardian under this section for the payment of compensation or costs or requiring him or her to give security by way of recognizance for good behaviour, without proceeding to the conviction of the child.

(4) An order under this section may be made against a parent or guardian who, having been required to attend, has failed to do so, but, save as aforesaid, no such order shall be made without giving the parent or guardian an opportunity of being heard.

(5) Any sums imposed and ordered to be paid by a parent or guardian under this section, or on forfeiture of any such security as aforesaid, may be recovered from him or her in like manner as if the order had been made on the conviction of the parent or guardian of the offence with which the child was charged.

(6) Where a child is arrested, the constable by whom he or she is arrested or the officer of police in charge of the police station to which he or she is brought shall cause the parent or guardian of the child, if he or she can be found, to be warned to attend the Court before which the child will appear.

(7) For the purpose of enforcing the attendance of a parent or guardian and enabling him or her to take part in the proceedings and enabling an order to be made against him or her, a summons or warrant may be issued by the Court to enforce his or her attendance in the same manner as if an information were laid or a complaint made, upon which a summons or warrant could be issued against the defendant, and a summons to a child may include a summons to a parent or guardian to enforce his or her attendance for the said purpose.

Part IENFORCEMENT ETC. OF CERTAIN ORDERS*PRELIMINARY

1. — (1) In this Schedule “relevant order” means any of the following orders, namely a probation order, an extra mural order and a curfew order.

(2) This Schedule applies in relation to combination orders —

Part IIBREACH OF REQUIREMENT OF ORDER*ISSUE OF SUMMONS OR WARRANT

2. — (1) If at any time while a relevant order is in force in respect of an offender it appears on information to a magistrate that the offender has failed to comply with any of the requirements of the order, the magistrate may —

- (a) it may impose on the offender a fine not exceeding two thousand five hundred dollars;

- (b) subject to paragraph 6(2) and (3) it may make an extra mural order in respect of the offender;
- (c) where the relevant order was made by a magistrate's court, it may revoke the order and deal with the offender, for the offence in respect of which the order was made, in any manner in which it could deal with the offender if the offender had just been convicted by the court of the offence.

(2) In dealing with an offender under sub-paragraph (1)(c) a magistrate's court shall take into account the extent to which the offender has complied with the requirements of the relevant order.

(3) Where a relevant order was made by the High Court and a magistrate's court has power to deal with the offender under sub-paragraph (1)(a) or (b) the latter court may instead commit the offender to custody or release the offender on bail until the offender can be brought or appear before the High Court.

(4) A magistrate's court which deals with an offender's case under sub-paragraph (3) shall send to the High Court —

- (a) a certificate signed by the magistrate certifying that the offender has failed to comply with the requirements of the relevant order in the respect specified in the certificate; and
- (b) such other particulars of the case as may be desirable;

and a certificate purporting to be so signed shall be admissible as evidence of the failure before the High Court.

(5) A person sentenced under sub-paragraph (1)(c) for an offence may appeal to the High Court against the sentence.

POWERS OF HIGH COURT

4.— (1) Where by virtue of paragraph 3(3) an offender is brought or appears before the High Court and it is proved to the satisfaction of the court that the offender has failed to comply with any of the requirements of the relevant order, that court may deal with the offender in respect of the failure in any one of the following ways, namely —

(3) In proceedings before the High Court under this paragraph any question whether the offender has failed to comply with the requirements of the relevant order shall be determined by the court and not by the verdict of a jury.

EXCLUSIONS

5. — (1) Without prejudice to paragraphs 7 and 8, an offender who is convicted of a further offence while a relevant order is in force in respect of the offender shall not on that account be liable to be dealt with under paragraphs 3 and 4 in respect of a failure to comply with any requirement of the order.

(2) An offender who is required by a probation order to submit to treatment for the offender's mental condition, or the offender's dependency on drugs or alcohol, shall not be treated for the purposes of paragraph 3 or 4 as having failed to comply with that requirement on the ground only that the offender has refused to undergo any surgical, electrical or other treatment if, in the opinion of the court, the offender's refusal was reasonable having regard to all the circumstances.

(4) Where the provision of this Schedule has effect as mentioned in sub-paragraph (3), the powers conferred by those provisions to deal with the offender for the offence in respect of which the extra mural order was made shall be construed as powers to deal with the offender for the failure to comply with the requirements of the relevant order in respect of which the extra mural order was made.

Part III

7.— (1) This paragraph applies where a relevant order is in force in respect of an offender and, on the application of the offender or the responsible officer, it appears to a magistrate's court that, having regard to circumstances which have arisen since the order was made, it would be in the interests of justice —

- (a) revoke the order; or
- (b) revoke the order and deal with the offender, for the offence in respect of which the order was made, in any manner in which it could deal with the offender if the offender had just been convicted by or before the Court of the offence.

(2) A responsible officer to whom in accordance with sub-paragraph (1) copies of a revoking order are given shall give a copy to the offender and to the person in charge of any institution in which the offender was required by the order to reside.

Part IV

AMENDMENT OF REQUIREMENTS OF PROBATION OR CURFEW ORDER

10. — (1) Subject to sub-paragraph (2), a magistrate's court may, on the application of the offender or the responsible officer, by order amend a probation or curfew order —

- (a) by cancelling any of the requirements of the order; or
- (b) by inserting in the order (either in addition to or in substitution for any such requirement) any requirement which the court could include if it were then making the order.

(2) The power of a magistrate's court under sub-paragraph (1) is subject to the following restrictions, namely —

- (a) the court shall not amend a probation order
 - (i) by reducing the probation period, or by extending that period beyond the end of three years from the date of the original order; or
 - (ii) by inserting in the order a requirement that the offender shall submit to treatment for the offender's mental condition, or the offender's dependency on drugs or alcohol, unless the amending order is made within three months after the date of the original order;
- (b) the court shall not amend a curfew order by extending the curfew periods beyond the end of six months from the date of the original order.

- (b) is for any reason unwilling to continue to treat or direct the treatment of the offender,

- (2) The opinion referred to in sub-paragraph (1) is —
- (a) that the treatment of the offender should be continued beyond the period specified in that behalf in the order; or

EXTENSION OF EXTRA MURAL ORDER

12. Where —

- (a) an extra mural order is in force in respect of an offender; and

SUPPLEMENTAL

13. An application may not be made under paragraph 10 or 12 while an appeal against the relevant order is pending.

EXPLANATORY MEMORANDUMCRIMINAL CODE 2002*1. SCOPE OF CODE

The Code seeks to correct the deficiencies in the existing Code by —

- (a) removing anachronistic provisions and archaic language;
- (b) introducing new areas of criminal law and procedure necessary to bring the Code in line with changes that have been taking place in the sphere of criminal law and procedure both in the country and in other jurisdictions;
- (c) integrating into the Code other related criminal legislation.

The net result of the above is a Code that is better suited to meet the needs of a modern day Saint Lucia in the area of criminal law and procedure leading in turn, to more efficient administration of justice.

- 2. The Code is contained in four main Chapters which are further divided into Parts and Sub-Parts. This structure seeks to do away with the existing arrangements of parts of the Code into Books, Parts and Titles as this arrangement does not conform to the current legislative drafting style of Saint Lucia.
- 3. The bulk of the provisions of the existing Code have been retained with any consequential amendments necessitated by the review. The following exposition therefore spotlights only those areas where crucial and major changes were made.
- 4. The Code applies to all offences. (Clause 3) and by Clause 26, the age of criminal responsibility has been revised to twelve years.

5. DEFENCES (Clauses 7 - 51)

To remove deficiencies under the current provisions relating to defences, three new defences have been added viz the defence of automatism (Clause 47), duress of threat (Clause 49) and necessity (Clause 50). Whilst these defences have been recognized by the Courts of Saint Lucia, they were not a part of the existing Code.

6. OFFENCE AGAINST THE PERSON (Clauses 81 - 187)A. Homicide

- (i) Murder has been categorised into Capital (Clause 86) and non-Capital (Clause 87) murder. Capital murder may carry a death sentence whilst non-capital murder attracts a life sentence. The distinction between capital and non-capital murder lies also in the circumstances in which the murder occurred e.g. a person who commits a murder in furtherance of certain crimes such as robbery, an act of terrorism, sexual offences, any drug trafficking offence, commits capital murder.

In addition, the definition of murder has been expanded to include the intention “to cause grievous bodily harm” as an alternative to intending to cause death (Clause 85).

- (ii) Suicide pacts

By Clause 95, a person who is party to a suicide pact is guilty of manslaughter.

B. Assault offences

- (i) By Clause 118, the Code creates the new offence of stalking to deal with situation of persistent harassment or threats which put a person in fear of death or grievous bodily harm. These situations normally occur in estranged relationships between either spouses or lovers.
- (ii) In recognition of the States position in relation to the protection of vulnerable groups in the society, by Clause 119, the Code makes it an offence for a person “in a position of trust or authority” towards a young person to fail to report suspected cases of abuse. “A person in authority” includes teachers and medical practitioners, among others.

C. Sexual Offences

- (i) The traditional offence of “rape” has been expanded to reflect the current realities in this area of law. Firstly, the Code recognises the possibility of the rape of a man by a woman (Clause 123[4]). Secondly, the Code now recognises rape between spouses in certain circumstances (Clause 123[3]). These provisions are intended to fortify the law relating to domestic violence. Thirdly, the Code recognises that there are sexual offences which do not fall within the traditional concept of rape. Thus the new offence of sexual connection (Clause 124) is created which carries, in certain circumstances, the sentence of life imprisonment just like rape. Sexual connection has been defined to include those situations where the sexual assault is through the use of an object manipulated by the assaulter.

- (ii) Soliciting sexual favours in work place (Clause 139): In response to the need to preserve the integrity of the work place and job security of the dis-empowered in the workplace, the Code makes it an offence for an employer or supervisor to make it appear, either to an employee or job seeker, that the prospects of working or working conditions for that person are dependent on the acceptance or tolerance, by that person of sexual advances or suggestions from the employer or supervisor.
- (iii) Transmission of AIDS (Clause 140). This new offence has been introduced into the category of sexual offences as a direct result of the reality of HIV/AIDS in our society. The Code criminalizes the deliberate infection of one person by another with AIDS and consent is excluded as a defence.

7. OFFENCES AGAINST PROPERTY (Clauses 188 - 298)

- (i) As regards offences against property the provisions relating to theft have been revised and simplified. Some of the new provisions included relate to theft by deception and blackmail. There is also the provision relating to theft of self-acquired property of a spouse by the other spouse. Concerning fraud, such new offences as destruction of bankers' books with intent to defraud have been created. In this connection the definition of property and document have been enlarged to include valuable security. There are also provisions for use of reasonable force in self-defence (Clauses 34, 35 et al) and compensation for criminal damage to property (Clause 229).
- (ii) Clause 267 creates the new offence of computer fraud which is committed by any one who, with intent to defraud or deceive, does any act which causes an unauthorised modification of the contents of a computer or computer network.

8. OFFENCES AGAINST PUBLIC ORDER (Clauses 299 - 368)

- (i) Treason (Clause 307) whilst under the existing Code the offence of treason was defined in relation to “all the English laws relating to treason for the time being in force”, this has been revised to recognise the sovereignty of Saint Lucia.
- (ii) Two new offences have been created under the category of offences against public order viz affray (Clause 353) and violent disorder (Clause 354) both of which are intended to protect the public from threats of violence.
- (iii) Additional new offences include the offence of advocating genocide (Clause 358) in relation to an “identifiable group” of the public distinguished by colour, race religion or ethnic origin. Clause 359 creates the offence of public incitement of hatred which also relates to an identifiable group. Both these Clauses could be seen as a response to international jurisprudence relating to crimes against humanity. Clause 360 allows for the seizure under a warrant of any publication used in relation to hate propaganda. This is a supplementary provision to Clause 359.
- (iv) Clause 361 creates the offence of wilfully spreading false news to injure public interest.

9. OFFENCES AGAINST THE ADMINISTRATION OF JUSTICE (Clauses 369 - 425).

By Clause 376, the offence of perverting the course of justice has been broadened to cater for those situations where a person conspires with others not to give evidence as well as where he or she does so on his or her own initiative.

- 10. One area of review in the Code is an attempt to group together offences which can be categorised as purely “summary offences”. Thus Clauses 426 - 569 deal with such offences which are, in relative terms, minor offences. A new offence under this category is the offence of wasting police time (Clause 511), which is intended to deal speedily with problems where persons file false reports or are otherwise deliberately delinquent in the prosecution of an offence.

11. MATTERS OF CRIMINAL PROCEDURE

A. Bail (Clauses 570 - 621)

The provisions relating to bail have been revised not only to codify the principles applicable in granting bail, but also to require reasons for refusal where there is a refusal of a bail application by a magistrate (Clause 597). In addition and most importantly, these provisions now bring together all the law in relation to bail in the respective Courts.

There are new provisions under which the Court may not grant bail and these include where a person is charged with murder, treason or any offence under the Firearms Act No. 11 of 2001 (except offences under section 7 of that Act.(Clause 593). By Clause 595, police may detain a suspect up to 72 hours for purposes of an ongoing investigation. This provision mirrors section 3(3) of the Constitution.

B. Search and seizure (Clauses 622 - 646)

New provisions have been included in this category which are intended to bridge gaps in the existing provisions relating to search and seizure. Clause 623 provides for the seizure of things not specified in a warrant in the process of executing that warrant. By Clause 624, a magistrate may, in certain specified circumstances, issue a search warrant allowing police officers to carry out a search using devices or other investigative technique. By Clause 646 a judge or magistrate may refuse access to information used to obtain a warrant where the judge or magistrate is of the opinion that the disclosure would be prejudicial to an informant or to the investigation or for any other sufficient reason.

C. Preliminary Inquiry and Committal Proceedings (Clauses 779 - 801)

Under the current Code, committal proceedings for the trial of indictable offences take the form of a two tier system which consists of committal proceedings before a magistrate, to be followed almost invariably by trial in the High Court. This has led to incredible delays in finally obtaining a trial at the Assizes, which are not held every month in Saint Lucia. This deficiency has been addressed by the institution of paper committal proceedings. Under this procedure, a District Court inquiring into the circumstances of a crime for purposes of prosecution, may commit or discharge the accused on the basis of written statements filed by both the prosecution and the accused without dispositions being taken, except in certain circumstances (Clauses 799-800). This development is in keeping with the wider initiative by the Courts relating to better case management.

D. Jurors (Clauses 925 - 977)

A number of improvements have been effected in the provisions relating to jurors and jury duty e.g. by Clause 931, the preliminary jury list is now to be compiled by the Registrar based on a current voter registration register as opposed to the current situation where the list is compiled by a magistrate which resulted in an un-updated juror list. More significant is the introduction of the concept of “alternate jurors” (Clause 953) which assures the integrity of a trial.

12. SENTENCING AND TYPES OF PUNISHMENT (Clauses 1086 - 1258)

The reforms under this heading are intended mainly to facilitate better case management and, as emphasis shifts towards the rehabilitation of offenders, these provisions empower the Courts to explore other forms of punishment as an alternative to custodial sentences. Thus now the Courts can hand down, for example, a curfew order which has the effect of confining the offender to a specified place (other than jail) for a specified period (Clauses 1177 - 1178).

In addition, certain legislation relating to punishment which were separate from the Code, have now been incorporated into the Code to reinforce their availability to the Courts as providing alternatives to custodial sentences. These are:

- The Prison (Extra Mural Sentences) Ordinance (Cap 40) (Clauses 1174-1176)
- The Probation Ordinance No. 11 of 1960 (Clauses 1156-1173); and
- The Parole Act No. 12 of 1997 (Clauses 1136 - 1155).

13. MISCELLANEOUS REFORMS

These are reforms necessitated primarily by the need to modernise the existing Code in line with developments both in the country and around the Region.

A. DISCLOSURE (Clauses 908 - 912)

Currently the Courts in Saint Lucia have been following the English common law on disclosure under which the prosecution is under a duty to disclose any helpful evidence to the defence, without a corresponding duty on the defence. By statute in 1996, the English common law was altered to place a corresponding duty on the defence. However, the Courts in Saint Lucia did not recognise this change. In consequence, provisions on disclosure have been introduced in the Code to cure the deficiency.

B. Mandatory minimum

Where in this Code or any other enactment, a mandatory minimum sentence has been prescribed, the Courts can no longer impose a sentence lesser than the mandatory minimum.

C. Use of gender sensitive language and simpler sentences.D. Removal of provisions in the existing Code which, in modern day, may be considered as amounting to inhuman and degrading punishment. These include provisions relating to flogging and imprisonment with hard labour.*E. Removal of certain summary offences which are time spent and therefore irrelevant in a modern Saint Lucia such as mat beating in public, correction of servant by master, correction of child etc.

14. The Code has annexed to it, seven Schedules which contain forms and other administrative or procedural provisions relating to the various substantive provisions of the Code.
